

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

WATCH IT GROW.

In Phoenix, Ariz., before the November election, all the liquor places put up a sign to this effect: "This building will be for rent if the 'dry' amendment carries." After election the saloon men refused to give up their leases, some of them opening drug stores, some soft drink stands, some restaurants. The law went into effect January 1. The day afterwards every baker and grocer in the city for the first time sold out his stock of bread, and the meat markets sold out their meats. Last year the arrests for drunkenness in Phoenix averaged 12 per day; on the day after the saloons closed, for the first time in its history the police court had no drunks.

Phoenix bankers also have a tale to tell. The day Arizona went "dry" the Valley bank, which suspended early in November, reorganized and opened up for business stronger than ever. The Citizens' bank, established by local capitalists, opened after the saloons were voted out. The Central bank, organized by eastern men after the election, filed articles of incorporation three days after the law went into effect and now occupies one of the "empty buildings." A branch of the Anchor Trust company of Wichita, Kan., was established after the state voted "dry." "Watch Arizona grow," say Arizonians.

"Tommy Atkins" Pledge.

The following "tetotal" pledge is being circulated among the British troops on the European battle fields:

"Don't ask me
To take drink;
I've decided to be teetotal while
On service for my country.
"Carry this with you and show it Whenever asked to take liquor."
On the reverse side of the card is printed:
"Temperance Battle Card for the Great War.
"Recognizing that as army, navy
and medical leaders have stated,
"Alcohol or drink is detrimental to health and efficiency,
"I promise, God helping me, to be teetotal while on service for my country."
(Signed with witness).
"(Get a mate or the chaplain, or an officer to witness this.)"

DEMAND IS FOR SOBER WORKERS.

In a recent number of the Technical World is a contributed article entitled, "The Worker Who Drinks Must Go." The editor in an introductory note thus comments:
"Emperors, business men, social reformers are all agreed upon one thing—alcoholic drinks work positive harm. A single glass of beer lowers a man's efficiency 7 per cent. Imagine what strong wine, gin, or whisky will do. The up-to-date employer will not keep men who drink even 'in moderation'; the secretary of the navy will not allow them on our warships; every commander in the field today is leading a sober army. Everywhere the brains of the world recognize that alcoholic liquors weaken both muscle and mind power."

PROSPERITY IN ATLANTA.

Atlanta, Georgia, is the largest dry city in the country, and the capital of a state in which the sale of liquor has been prohibited since 1907. In that year the realty transactions of the city were $91,840,350; in 1913 the amount was almost double—$172,292,004. Building permits for 1907 aggregated $4,554,771; in 1912 they reached the sum of $9,987,444. Corresponding increase in all lines of business is recorded. The tax rate shows significant reduction.

NEAR THE TOP OF THE WORLD.

The "farthest north" local Woman's Christian Temperance union is in Dawson, Yukon territory, only about one hundred miles from the Arctic circle. It was organized in 1913 by one of the national organizers of the society and is doing active work for temperance—"living, working, gaining new members," writes the president, "and corresponding with the Ottawa officials in regard to the observance of Sunday closing of saloons." Plucky!

CHURCHES AND BREWERIES.

Did you know that over ten times as much money is spent in building churches as in building breweries? This, at least, is the record for the first four months of last year. According to no less an authority than the American Contractor, a building trade journal, in that period the brewers spent $429,000 in building operations and the church people spent $4,380,986.

PERTINENT QUERY.

What is the difference, asks an exchange, in moral quality between keeping a saloon and running advertisements of whisky and beer?

STUDY OF ALCOHOL.

In fourteen European universities instruction as to the nature and effects of alcohol is a recognized part of the curriculum.

TWO HEADS CONFUSE CHICK.

Staten Island Freak Whines Every Time it Tries to Walk.

Stories of freak chickens that have come along in the spring brooding season have been read with much interest by farmers on Staten Island, but they had not heard of any freaks in their vicinity up to yesterday. Then August Woeckner, who has a farm on Willow Brook road, Port Richmond, met several of his neighbors in Bitterli's restaurant on Richmond turnpike and informed them about a wonderful two-headed chicken born a few hours before on his farm.

"This is the most unusual chicken you ever saw," he explained. "It has two heads, one in front and the other where the tail ought to be, so you never can tell which is the front head. The body is long and it only has two legs."

"It stands on its feet, all right, but then it has trouble. The legs start to walk in one direction when the front head wants them to start moving. Then the back head wants to go somewhere else, and the chicken keeps walking forward and backward all the time, keeping in a straight line only a few inches long. Every once in a while the mother hen comes back to get the chicken, because it can't follow the brood when the two heads get opposite notions. When she cackles for it to follow her both heads try to go after her. Well, the head that's furthest away from the mother hen starts to turn round, putting the other head at the further end. Then that head starts to turn round, and finally the chick is going around like a whirling dervish."

All the farmers were eager to see the freak, so they asked Woeckner to take them to the farm.

"It's no use," he said. "My cousin, who lives 'way out in Long Island, came in for a visit this morning. He took a fancy to the chick and I gave it to him. He took it home and is going to try to raise more like it."—New York Press.

Two Tabbies.

Margy put Tabby on the doorstep to watch while she swept the leaves off the walk with her little broom. Margy did love Tabby so dearly! She stroked her and warmed her little toes at the fire, and talked to her as if she had been a real live pussy, instead of only a printed and stuffed one.

Sombody besides Tabby was watching Margy. It was the old lady who lived next door and had nobody but her cats to keep her company; but she was such a nice old lady and had such smiling wrinkles all round her eyes that she reminded Margy of the picture of the funny good fairy in her Cinderella book.

The leaves fell so fast and kept Margy so busy that she did not see Monk, the big St. Bernard puppy, come frolicking into the yard. As soon as he spied Tabby, he thought she would be a fine plaything; so he snapped her up in his big jaws, and was off in a twinkling.

Poor Margy! Could she help crying? She dropped her broom, and the tears made two little streams down her cheeks, and fell, patter, patter, on the dry leaves at her feet.

The nice old lady was very sorry. She put on her bonnet and cloak, and in her hands she took something that was soft and warm and furry.

She went into Margy's yard, and put the soft, warm, furry something on the step, just where Tabby had sat. Then she wiped away Margy's tears, so that she could see what was there.

And what did Margy see? The very image of her lost Tabby, only this one had real fur to be stroked, and a real tail to chase, and a real purr in her little throat, which the other Tabby never had. And the kind neighbor told Margy this should be her very own Tabby. Now is it any wonder that Margy insists that the nice old lady is really a good fairy?
